

Naturally Artistic CHALLENGE

Get inspired by British artist Andy Goldsworthy, who uses natural items like leaves, grass, stone, twigs and pinecones to create amazing outdoor sculptures.

Head outside and pay attention to the colours, shapes and textures of the items you collect. Use them to create your own outdoor masterpiece!

How to play:

- Check local rules before going off-road. If you do leave the trail, step carefully.
- Collect anything that's already on the ground, but don't pick anything. If you find a flower or other living thing you'd like to use, find a creative way to build your art around it.
- Natural materials only! No litter or human-made items.
- Snap a photo and leave your art behind for others to discover. Remember, you should take only photographs and leave only footprints.

What you'll need:

- A natural area — any local trail, woods or park
- A smartphone, tablet or camera
- Natural materials you find along the way!
